

2023 Loss Control Summit Attendee Terms and Conditions

Risk Control Technologies Inc. (RCT) and attendees agree to the following;

Contact Information

In order to better facilitate networking and collaboration opportunities, the contact information provided at time of registration will be shared with other event attendees prior to the event.

Payment

Payment for tickets must be received before the date of the event. RCT reserves the right to limit the number of tickets available in general or to any person or corporate entity wishing to attend. All ticket prices will be charged in USD or the equivalent amount of the attendee's local currency.

Proprietary Information & Intellectual Property

Guest speakers and RCT staff will deliver presentations containing sensitive and proprietary information. Attendees are forbidden from taking screen photos and videos, or otherwise attempting to distribute content, without prior written consent from the content owner.

Content

Content delivered or information provided by third parties during the course of the event or in connection to the event does not necessarily reflect the beliefs or opinions of RCT. Content delivered is intended to be for informational purposes only.

RCT may add, change, or remove any content or agenda details at its sole discretion.

The content delivered during the course of the event or in association with the event may be distributed by RCT to event attendees and may be reused for marketing and promotional purposes at a later date.

Photography & Video

During the course of the event video and still photography will be recorded for promotional purposes and is the property of RCT and will be reused at its discretion. By attending, you consent to being on video.

Accommodations & Travel

Reservations and payment for travel and accommodation is the responsibility of the attendee. RCT has secured preferential pricing for accommodation, but cannot guarantee the availability of such pricing or accommodation.

Age

Attendees must be age of majority at the time of the event. Should you wish to bring a minor as a guest to a social event please note that in many cases alcohol will be provided at these events and the minor will be your responsibility.
